STANDARDS OF STUDENT CONDUCT VIOLATIONS AND CONSEQUENCES

The Director or designee shall determine the appropriate disciplinary measures for each case of misconduct by a student, except where consequences are predetermined by specific Regional School Board policy or by law. Determinations of disciplinary measures shall include considerations of the relative impact of a violation on the entire student body as well as on the individual, the school, and the student's cumulative discipline record.

The director or his/her designee shall inform, consult with, or refer to the chairperson of the Superintendents' Steering Committee, hereafter known as "Superintendent", any discipline matters that involve situations of extreme danger, acts of violence, threats to the school, and any discipline matters that involve unusual circumstances or need special handling. The director or director's designee shall notify the parent of each suspension and may request a parent conference prior to readmission. All disciplinary actions shall be taken in accordance with due process requirements

Student Conduct outlines five (5) student behavior categories and the levels of administrative response(s) that may occur for each. The following factors are used in determining the consequences for a specific violation of the Code:

- Age, health, and disability or special education status of the student.
- Appropriateness of student's academic placement.
- Student's prior conduct and record of behavior.
- Student's understanding of the impact of his/her behavior.
- Student's willingness to repair the harm caused by his/her behavior.
- Seriousness of the behavior offense and the degree of harm caused.
- Impact of the incident on the overall school community.
- Whether the student's violation threatened the safety of any student or staff member.
- The possibility that a lesser intervention would adequately address the violation.

When enforcing this Student Conduct, students, and their property, including but not limited to, backpacks, bags, wallets, other containers, automobiles, lockers, desks, and any MLWGS assigned device(s) may be searched. All such searches are conducted with an administrator and a member of security present. Any materials confiscated are immediately inventoried by both school officials. Metal detectors, surveillance cameras, and detection dogs may be used on school property and at school-sponsored activities in order to maintain a safe and productive learning environment. Search and seizure are defined in more detail in the definitions section of this Code.

Behavior Categories and Range of Consequences

The following behavior categories are designed to recognize the impact student behavior has on the school environment and on learning. They encourage awareness for administrators, teachers, parents, and counselors of students' social-emotional development and emphasize the importance of helping students achieve academically and develop Social Emotional Learning SEL competencies.

Behaviors that impede Academic Progress (BAP): These behaviors impede academic progress of the student or of students. They are typically indicative of the student's lack of self-management or self-awareness. Sometimes, the student may need help in understanding how the behavior impacts others so training in social awareness may also be indicated.

- Behaviors related to School Operations (BSO): These behaviors interfere with the daily operation of school procedures. Students exhibiting these behaviors may need to develop self-management, self-awareness, or social awareness skills.
- Relationship Behaviors (RB): These behaviors create a negative relationship between 2 or more people that does not result in physical harm. Relationship behaviors impact the whole school community in that the school climate is often a reflection of how people treat one another. Students who exhibit difficulty with relationship behaviors may also have difficulty with the other social-emotional competencies.
- Behaviors that present a Safety Concern (BSC): These behaviors create unsafe conditions for students, staff, and visitors to the school. The underlying reasons for this type of behavior may lie in any of the social emotional competencies so the administrator should investigate the underlying motivation for the student's behavior. Training in social awareness and decision-making are usually indicated in any behavior that creates a safety concern.
- Behaviors that Endanger Self or Others (BESO): These behaviors endanger the health, safety, or welfare of either the student or others in the school community. Behaviors that rise to this level of severity are often complex. While they are indicative of poor decision-making skills, students who exhibit these behaviors may also have developmental needs in the other social-emotional competencies.

The categories are a means to sorting behaviors in order to apply leveled administrative responses to student behaviors.

C. Leveled Systems of Disciplinary Responses and Instructional Interventions

In an effective approach to intervention and discipline, when students do not meet behavioral expectations, they receive supports to address the root causes of the behavior and learn appropriate alternatives. When a specific student behavior does not change following an intervention—or the behavior increases in frequency, intensity, or duration—a problem solving approach is used to identify alternative interventions and responses. All stages of a system of intervention should include opportunities for learning acceptable replacement behaviors within the school and community and access to interventions to address the underlying causes of behavior.

Delivering disciplinary responses to unwanted behaviors is often a needed but never sufficient strategy for reducing inappropriate behavior. Therefore, leveled systems of disciplinary responses should always be only one part of more comprehensive policy around behavior that includes instructional, preventive and proactive strategies as described earlier in this document. The delivery of disciplinary responses should only serve 4 key functions:

- preventing a negative behavior from being rewarded
- preventing a problem behavior from escalating
- preventing a problem behavior from significantly interrupting instruction
- preventing physical and/or social emotional harm to others

D. Leveled Administrative Responses to Student Behavior

Administrators and leadership teams should engage in a data driven decision-making process to determine appropriate responses for behaviors at all levels. Consequent actions or punishment should always be addressed with instruction and intervention. Instruction should focus on helping students develop social emotional competencies needed to change the behavior.

All referrals to an administrator should include communication with the family. Family involvement is critical to addressing student behavior.

Level 1 Responses: Level 1 responses are intended to prevent further behavioral issues while keeping the student in school

Re-teaching or modeling of desired behavior	Recognize/Reward appropriate behavior
Written reflection or letter of apology	Peer mediation or conflict resolution administration

Administrator/Teacher/Parent/Guardian conference Detention (before school, at lunch, after school)

Administrator/Student conference and/or Administrator/Student/Teacher conference In-school suspension (Up to two days) with behavioral instruction and academic support Level 2 Responses: Administrative responses and interventions at this level are designed prevent further behavior issues and keep the student in school. Depending upon the severity of the behavior, short-term removal of the student from the classroom may be appropriate.

Functional Behavioral Assessment (FBA) and Behavior Support Plan (BSP) Development Short-term out-of-school suspension¹ (one-five days) with restorative circle or conference upon return

Behavior contract (developed with and signed by the student, parent/guardian, and school officials)

Level 4 Responses: Some Level 4 behaviors require a report to the director or director's designee as outlined in the Code of Virginia § 22.1-279.3:1. Local school board policy may require additional reporting. A referral to the director of the director's designee does not automatically result in a long-term suspension, change of placement or expulsion. After a review of the incident in context, the director or director's designee may return students to the comprehensive setting with additional supports and/or responses to be implemented.
